Program Needs Assessment and Evaluation Highlights/Action Taken Title III: Faye Olason reported on Title III activities. Pam Cox, Interact website consultant, will be on campus May 23 & 24 to meet Department chairs should inform with different groups on the new website templates. Fave expressed their department members that the importance of making all faculty aware that when the current any website information below information is migrated over to the new site, it will only migrate the third level will be lost when down to the third level. Any information below the third level will be migrated to the new website. lost. Faculty need to back up their web pages. Javin asked if Student Faculty need to back up their Government would be included in the visit with the consultant. Faye web pages. said that Dan Johnson is scheduled to meet with Ms. Cox. Fave said that more updates will come as the project progresses. Faye reported that a survey had gone out to adjunct faculty on how they might better be served. They will send out a similar survey to both staff and full-time faculty. Faye told the committee that there is staff development money available through Title III. She passed out a handout on how to apply Department chairs should share for a mini-grant and requested that department chairs take them back the mini-grant information with to their members. She also said that there is money available for their department members. journal subscriptions. Any faculty members who have specific (Handout) journals they are interested in should contact Faye. Carmen asked if that could include electronic journals. Faye said that she did not see why not. Carmen also asked if this was ongoing money. Fave said that if would end when the grant ends. Peer Review Task Force: Laurel asked for three volunteers to serve on a Peer Review Task Force. Laurel stated that the current Peer Review form used in the Probationary Review process is of very little value. This is especially Three member task force to meet true since the department structure has changed. Laurel said that the and review Peer Review form. Peer Review form is not a mandatory part of the probationary

continue with the form at all. Jerry asked if other schools use the peer review process. Laurel replied that most do but do not use the form that LCC uses.

Allan, Carmen, and Alex volunteered to serve on the task force. Brendan told the group that the probationary process can be tailored to meet individual needs. The task force was asked to come up with models that the Probationary Committees can use. Brendan and Fran both stated that the new form should be in place by Fall Orientation week. Laurel charged Allan with getting the task force together.

Five Credit Speech (Public Speaking)

Geary reported that several of the new Major Ready Degrees, such as Pre-Nursing, have a five (5) credit Speech requirement. He said that LCC has several options from which to choose. We can change all of our speech courses to five credits, we can offer some five and some three, or we can choose not to offer a degree program that has a five credit speech requirement. Laurel said that she would hate to see us choose the option not to offer the programs. Laurel also said that offering too many choices might be confusing to students and that we should consider what is best for our students. Geary said that he had talked to Mark Bergeson and Mike Dugaw and they both felt that both the five credit and the three credit options are feasible. Geary said that we are looking at a next Fall timeline. Fran said that some transfer programs do not have a speech requirement at all. She has a concern that if we make all speech courses five credits, some students will not want to take speech at all. Jim said that he was under the impression that the direct transfer requires speech. Laurel replied that it is not required but is often a logical choice since there is a 13 credit Communication requirement. Laurel also said that most colleges do have a speech requirement. Alex stated that she believes most students need a speech class. Fran said that there are only two colleges in the state of Washington that have three credit speech courses and LCC is one of them. Laurel asked the Department Chairs to discuss this issue with their department members. The decision could take effect Winter Quarter 2005-06.

Department chairs to discuss the five (5) credit Speech option with their department members.

Reports from Committees

Curriculum Committee.

Fran reported that the Curriculum Committee met on 11 May. The Committee approved a proposal to change the name of the 2-year Professional & Technical Degree CIS Applications Programmer to CIS Software Development Specialist. Fran reported that there were six other proposals presented to the Committee and approved. A proposal made by Rhonda Meyers was tabled until further information is available. A proposal presented by David Benson to add a 2 credit seminar course for capstone was sent to the Capstone Committee.

Faculty Development Committee:

Laurel reported that the Faculty Development Committee met on 11 May. She was not able to attend the meeting but knew that all applications but one were approved. The application declined was because the activity takes place after the new fiscal year begins. The faculty member will be asked to resubmit his application for the fall

Assessment Committee:

Wendy reported that the Assessment Committee is working to get reports ready well in advance of the accreditation visit in October. She also said that they would like to include assessment as a part of in-service day. They recently held a workshop on classroom assessment. It was not well attended but a lot of interest was shown. We hope that if workshops were offered on an in-service day, they would be better attended.

Wendy told the committee that the Guidelines for Planning & Assessment should be out by the end of the year.

General Education Committee:

Geary handed out a draft copy of the Proposed General Education Plan Definitions and Goals. Geary said that the draft was also sent out to faculty electronically. Comments on the draft must be in to Geary by 27 May. He would appreciate as much input as possible.

Capstone Committee:

Geary went over the Capstone Committee report. Geary reported that the committee had discussed a description of capstone, that the Committee had discussed how to compensate faculty for the extra workload involved in a Capstone course, and that they were discussing the possibility of using some of the same outcomes that General Education uses. He said they would not be able to use all of the outcomes. An example is that not all Capstone projects include a numeracy component. Dennis stated that Capstone is meant to be interdisciplinary. Dennis also stated that they are a minimum 5 credits. Jim said that BSAD 207 (Statistics) is a two credit Capstone with BSAD 206 as a prerequisite. Laurel stated that the Capstone Committee has been charged with better defining a new plan for Capstone courses with guidelines that would be followed. Geary also reported that David Benson brought up the idea of having an additional two credit seminar to go with his Capstone. Geary said that there are pros and cons to the idea. Geary said that it would allow students to have more content before they choose their research project. Many students wait until their last quarter to take their Capstone, however. Javin voiced a concern that it would mean extra tuition for students. Dennis said that students would not be required to take the seminar but it would offer them the choice if they wanted to enroll. Mary asked about distance education Capstone courses. She asked if chatrooms were considered a seminar. There does not seem to be a clear answer. Carmen stated that she has always been very impressed with the research done by the online class on the novel.

Integrative Studies Committee:

Geary handed out the following draft documents for Integrative Studies: By-Laws; Catalog Description; Course Configuration Requirements; Selection and Scheduling Criteria. Geary asked that these documents be taken back and discussed with department members. A vote will be taken electronically in June. Dennis asked if the drafts could be sent out electronically. Laurel's office will see Discussion (Handouts) Laurel's office will send out draft documents electronically to that they are sent out. Jerry asked what is considered a seminar. Geary said he would check with the committee. Laurel asked that the answer be sent out electronically. Laurel stated that she believes you can have valuable online discussion groups. She added that students have the time to think about what they want to say. Jerry expressed concern that students are not developing the skills they would if they were in a seminar group with other students. Laurel agreed that there are pros and cons but hopes the committee will not be too limiting.

Reports from Instructional Administrators

Brendan Glaser reported that Community Education will begin to offer classes linked to programs offered at LCC. In doing this, they will try to capitalize on college expertise. They also hope to get people interested in taking other classes. Brendan said that Jenny Smith, who works with Community Education, may be contacting departments for ideas.

Brendan also reported that the Professional Technical Program instructors are going through a change in their Vocational Certification requirements. Brendan said that he may be calling several meetings with those involved to work on the new requirements. If anyone has any specific questions, they should contact Brendan.

Brendan said there would be several major changes over the summer. Some of the changes are due to the Pulp & Paper Grant. There will be several facility changes in order to house the new Pulp & Paper Program. Brendan reported that the grant has done very well and that they hope to offer their first class in 2005. They will eventually offer a two-year degree and a certificate program, as well as worker training. Carmen asked if any training would take place at a mill, and it was explained that some training will be for incumbent workers and take place at the workplace. Brendan said that they have agreements with Weyerhaeuser, NORPAC and Fibre in Longview; Georgia-Pacific/Wauna; Georgia-Pacific/Camas; and Boise Cascade in St. Helens. Brendan said if all continues to go well, they will reach out to the greater Northwest Region. Brendan also reported that the LCC Maintenance Program and the Instrumentation Program will eventually benefit from the Pulp & Paper grant. Brendan reported that the ABE, ESL, and CEO departments will be moving to the Vocational Building over the summer. Brendan said that one of the strongest missions of community colleges is to teach basic skills. He said that there is a tremendous need in our state and that community colleges are the only ones addressing it.

Geary Greenleaf reported that there will be a shift in personnel taking place over the summer. Kathy Mauser will be moving to the Library where she will be working under the direction of the new Library Director. She will spend one half of her time working with faculty in distance education. Scott Dennis will also be moving to the Library building and will also work under the new Library Director. Charlotte Persons will move to the Applied Arts Nursing area. She will be working part-time under the new Library Director in the area of grant writing. She will help faculty identify potential grants and assist with grant development.

Fran Zarubick reported that the Fine Arts building is scheduled to be demolished this summer. Gary Nyberg and Martin Sherry will be moved to the DTV building. Don Correll will be moved to the IOB. Fran reported that the Business Department is going through some big changes. They are about to start interviews for the position left by Bonnie Howard's retirement. The department is also looking at new course directions. Fran said that HOFL/ECED is also looking at changes as the state has made changes in how their outcomes are measured. She also said that Ann Williamson and Colleen Lemhouse will be attending an excellent conference in Colorado during June to look at a premier early childhood education program. Fran reported that Rosemary Powelson-Bailey is back in Longview. Fran reported that the Jazz Ensemble has 17 young people in it and that their first concert will be 8 June. The Music Department hopes to start a Percussion Ensemble in the Fall.

Fran reported that the Exceptional Faculty Committee is looking at the process used for reviewing faculty applications. There is some concern that the type of projects that can be funded is not clearly articulated. The Committee is working on the language. She said that all but two projects were funded and that the letters have gone out

Reports from Council Members or Guests

--Jerry Zimmerman reported on the new Allied Health Program. Mary McClay has been hired on a temporary basis to get the program up and running. Geary explained that Peace Health is concerned that people they hire do not always meet the required skill sets. The new program will work to get entry level people up to a basic skill level. Peace Health has said that they will give those who have a certificate first choice at jobs.

Jerry said that LCC will host the state baseball playoffs over Memorial Day weekend. He also reported that the book discussion groups have not had the involvement that had been hoped for. He suggested that perhaps if we could plan up to a year ahead so that people knew the books to read well in advance. He also suggested selecting and announcing the books before the end of this school year so that people could read them over the summer.

--Allan Evald reported that most of his department members had attended a Metals Industry Expo in Portland last week. The purpose of the expo was to introduce high school students to the metals trade. This was the first time it had been done in Portland and it was very well received. Allan said there is discussion on having one in the Tacoma/Seattle area. Brendan added that the trend data show that manufacturing in the state of Washington continues to be very vital. Allan also reported that their department was receiving a donation from Weyerhaeuser of instrumentation and welding equipment. Allan also said that his department is very interested in making a promotional CD of information about their department. This CD would be used for marketing purposes. He said that funding is an issue. They received a Faculty Excellence award but it is not enough to cover the entire cost of the project. Laurel added that she has seen a CD done by a community college in Texas. The presentation is excellent but it is expensive to do. They will continue to look for additional funding.

-- Dennis Shaw reported that Martin Sherry is trying to get a music production program started. They are waiting for a list of equipment needs at the moment. Dennis also reported that Mike Dugaw has earned a position on the National Endowment for the Humanities Landmarks of American History Workshops for Community College Teachers. The workshop titled Currents of History: The Columbia River & The Making of the West will be held this summer at Portland State University. Dennis also said that Mike has submitted a paper on Lewis & Clark to the Cowlitz County Historical Society. Dennis reported that Jerry and he are working on a project to target the community to find out what LCC can do for the community and to help identify and explore needs that are not being met—and how we can meet them. They hope to include people with professional degrees in the hope that they will come to see LCC as a viable educational option. The plan is to have focus group sessions. After much discussion, they have named their group the Luminary Society.

--Jim Stanley reported that the Business Department is taking a hard look at several of their programs. Some major changes need to take place in order to keep up with the rapid changes that take place in the industry. CIS is a good example of this. They are considering the option of starting from scratch and rewriting their entire program due to major changes. He said that it might be easier in the long run to start from scratch rather than try to make so many changes. Javin voiced a concern about those students currently in the program. Jim replied that this would be something that would happen over time and that no student would be left behind. Jim said that the Business Program is almost to that point as well. Fran said that they are considering taking the core program created by Mary McClay for Allied Health and using it as part of a Business Program for Health Care Managers. She added that it is just in the discussion stage at this point.

--Adam Wolfer reported that Rhonda will be out for several weeks following surgery. He also reported that both Chemistry and Biology are working on changes.

--Mary Stone reported that there had been a good turn out for the English Career Showcase presented by Joe Green. She also reported that the job search system Higher Connections should be ready by September. Mary asked the members to encourage students to apply for scholarships. Mary also reported that there are two Honors classes listed in the Fall schedule. The Honors brochure should be out soon. There is a limit of 15 students per class. Students must have a letter of intent to enroll in an Honors class. This letter must be presented before they can register for the class.

-- Carmen Robinson reported that departments need to notify her as soon as possible if they intend to offer a telecourse via KLTV. She said that telecourses are no longer a main type of format for teaching distance education courses. Carmen also reported that the library is looking at the use of Document Imaging for reserve readings. At this time it would mainly be for distance education materials.

--Alex Whitman reported that the passing grade for ENGL 101 has officially been changed from C- to C. Spanish courses will be changing as well. Alex also reported that the department continues to work on their ongoing concerns with Placement and Plagiarism. They are also working on the exit essay requirement that they want to put in place. Alex handed out an e-mail from Deborah Brink asking two questions and asked that the questions be discussed with department members.

- 1. How do you define the basic Student Writing Standard that should be upheld across the disciplines?
- 2. What is acceptable writing in a college-level course—regardless of subject?

Alex asked for faculty to reply to Deborah. Alex said that the Salal Review will be out Friday May 20. The Salal Spring Arts Festival will be Friday as well. She encouraged faculty to bring their classes.

--Javin Bakke reported that elections for Student Government officers were taking place this week. He said there was a good turn-out. Javin reported that voting for both a full-time and a part-time faculty of the year was also taking place. Javin also said that Red Devil Days were going on this week with a different activity everyday. Javin also told the Council that they had been raising money for Habitat for Humanity. The original goal was to raise $500. They have raised $800 so far. Javin thanked the group for the opportunity to sit on the Council this year and said that he would be back next year.

Laurel told Javin how much they appreciated his participation this year. She was very pleased that he had attended the meetings and voiced his ideas and concerns.

Laurel closed the meeting by saying that the next meeting would be in October.
